Lilley Coal and Coke
Company to Develop
Big Tract

ENGINEERS AT WORK

Prominent Washington County Men Interested--Will Enter Coal Trade

Several corps of engineers under the supervision of John I. Mullen, a Pittsburg mining and civil engineer, are engaged in making the necessary surveys for the construction of the new Lilley coal plant near Westtownville. A company of Washington county men recently purchased a Thomas Lilly tract of 1,000 acres, the Lilly being one of the heaviest stockholders in the organization. Other prominent men in the company are John H. Moffitt, controller of Washington county who is treasurer; and I. V. Kinder, of Charleroi, who has been elected secretary.

There are over 250 acres of virgin timber on the Lilly tract, and this will be utilized in the construction of a new operation of the new mine. It is the intention to build coke ovens in the future, they being located in a hilly hollow. At present however, it is planned to place only coal on the market.

The slope into the mine as well as much of the other construction, including the substructure, will be done by the Drake-Stratton construction company of Pittsburg. Over $200,000 will be spent in equipment, of which will be of the most modern type. A steel tippie, concrete lined slope, and other features which are essential of a first class plant will be in evidence.

The Lilly tract adjoins that of the Ches & Laughlin holdings, and that company has sought to purchase the tract for years. The Lilly Coal and Coke company was organized recently and the officials state that work at the new plant will be pushed to completion.

CONFER PYTHIAN DEGREE

Grand Lodge Officers Visit Monessen on Tour Through State

PUBLIC MEETING HELD

On a trip through Western Pennsylvania Grand Chancellor George H. Hoffman, of the Knights of Pythias, order and a small party of grand officers, made a stop in Monessen Friday evening, where grand lodge rank of the past chancellor was conferred on a class of 15 candidates. Visiting knights were present from various lodges along the valley between Brownsville and Monongahela. Charleroi, Donora, Monessen and Monongahela of this section were represented in the past chancellor degree work and one of the Lonsaconing, Md., order took the degree.

The opening meeting was held in the meeting rooms of the Monessen order. After a brief session there the party of knights went to the opera house where a public meeting was held. Grand Chancellor Hoffman made an address, in which he outlined the work of the order, and told what it stood for. Grand Master at Arms Benjamin Moore, of Pittsburg, and Rev. E. E. J. Winfield Reed Choice for Chairman in This County

HOLD MEETING TODAY

So-Called Progressive Faction Pulls Out Ahead--J. N. Patterson is Treasurer

By the election of J. Winfield Reed, as county Chairman, the Guthrie faction of the Democratic party was triumphant at the re-organization of the Democratic county committee at Washington today. A hot fight was waged by the old time organization, the adherents of Col. J. M. Guffey's leadership, but the insurgent element were easy victors at the final showdown. The vote for chairman was 29 to 58 out of 110 committeemen present. J. N. Patterson of Washington, was elected treasurer.

A. P. Cochran of McDonald, placed Reed in nomination, and Joe T. S. Cowan of Roscoe, made the nominating speech for Josiah M. Patterson, the candidate of the Guffey element. Some florid oratory marked the nominations, but the insurgents appeared to have control of the situation on every hand.

New party rules for the county were adopted. One of the important features was a rule requiring every candidate to sign a pledge not to expend money for anything but legitimate expenses. Expenditures for watchers, transportation and "the dissemination of information" is strictly prohibited. Another rule provides for the direct election of county chairman at the primary election.

ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF THEIR DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. John Glasser gave a birthday party Friday evening in honor of their daughter Mary. Entertainment was provided with various diversions for the young folks. Refreshments were served. Place cards were decorated with a spray of the Lily of the Valley. Little Miss Mary received numerous beautiful and useful presents. Those present were: Anna Kirk, Katherine Mogan, Amelia Joiner, Merle Ryland, Margaret Yarnall, Eleanor Bake, Irene Koller, Elizabeth Rothleder, Mary Koller, John Illig, Floyd Carson, James Bowers, Harold Pilston, Joe Wentzell, Arthur Wentzel, Edward Reeves.

AN AGRICULTURAL EXPERT.
Through the efforts of Secretary
G. W. Dudderer of the county seat Board of Trade the government has signified its willingness to place an agricultural expert in Washington county, provided the people here will pay half the expenses. It is not yet known what these expenses will be,
but it seems probable that from the efforts made at the county seat to improve and stimulate farming conditions in the vicinity of that town that an effort will be made at least to secure the permanent location of the expert in the county.
This is a matter in which Charleroi might co-operate, and have this section share in the benefits of the advice and instructions of the expert, who could devote a portion of his time in this section. The advantages of such an arrangement are obvious, in view of the effort to establish a curb market in Charleroi and to stimulate farming and gardening. There are possibly many undeveloped resources in an agricultural line that could be pointed out by an expert trained in climatic and soil conditions. Many sections that are now producing alfalfa in bountiful crops at one time were under the impression that the product could not be grown there, but experts pointed out the necessary requirements, and a new resource was developed.

It is so here. There are many garden products that could be raised profitably that are not now grown, and some one to point out the way and blaze the trail would be of inestimable benefit to the community.

BASEBALL GAMBLING.
In view of the widespread prevalence of baseball pools, which is a species of gambling over the results of the games of the national associations, a united effort is being made all over the State to suppress the practice which, it is declared, will soon put the social ban on the game

just as has been put on horse racing because of the gambling and pernicious following the sport developed. Pool selling on horse races finally resulted in drastic laws in many of the States, and horse racing has declined greatly besides being brought into general disrepute.

It will be so with baseball. If the gamblers are permitted to fasten their business on the game as they are trying to do, it will soon be brought into disrepute with the public. The chief reason for the unbounded popularity of the game is that it is clean and the contests are decided entirely on their merits.

Once let the pool business reach the proportions that horse racing pools once did, and we will see players entering into the pools and soon there will be charges of "throwing games"
for the sake of winning pool money.

If baseball continues to be popular it must be kept clean. The practice of selling pools is unlawful in this State at least, and all who are interested in preserving the great national game at its present high standard will unite in an effort to wipe out the pernicious practice that will destroy one of the cleanest and most popular of American sports.

ELECTRIC SPARKS
Complaining of opportunities missed
is about the only real enjoyment some men get out of life. Heaven knows we shouldn't deny them of that sole pleasure.

Several of the Presidential candidates this year seem strong for occupying pulpits.
The New York Club that invited
reporters to one of the big banquets there and assured them that they would receive the same treatment, food and so forth, as the honor guests
is sure of a good writeup.

Those of us who are still wearing our winter clothes don't as yet feel very uncomfortable in spite of the fact that Easter came and went about a month ago.

Straw hat day isn't very far off, but with the weather no warmer than it is now, our old derbies will still be found quite convenient.

Our idea of real fun is watching two circuses trying to placard the same town for shows only a few days apart.

A man always thinks it is funny that a bald headed man should want a wig until he himself acquires a billiard ball, fly inviting, shiny top piece.

The advantage of having a bald head is that when your think tank doesn't work properly, your pate scratching will get nearer to the seat of preponderance.

Our idea of foolishness is not accepting an invitation to dinner.

Another piece of foolishness is inviting anybody to be your guest at a meal.

One cannot help wondering if this new-fangled domestic science course for young women in High School to include instructions in suffrage tactics.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Reading a tribute which Elbert
Hubbard pays to Dr. Edward G.
Acheson in the current number of the Fra, I am reminded how Monongahela escaped becoming the center of an extensive manufacturing plant by a short sighted policy on the part of her council some twenty years ago,
or more, so I've been told," remarked
a valley resident last evening. "Dr.
Acheson, who is the inventor or discoverer of the process for making carborundum, one of the most efficient abrasives ever known, as well as the process for manufacturing graphite, which is the best lubricant known, started his carborundum plant at Monongahela. Being a native of Washington county he selected Monongahela as an advantageous point to build up a plant for the various discoveries he was developing. Dr.
Acheson was a student of Thomas Edison, and is one of the foremost scientists of the day. At one time he thought he had discovered a process for manufacturing diamonds,
but carborundum was the result,
which for useful purposes is far more important than the manufacture of gems."

"While in Monongahela Dr. Acheson sought permission of council to utilize some ground along the river bank for the enlargement of his plant.
This was refused, and the scientist was put to a great inconvenience."
"All right," he said. "I'll move to some place where there is more room."
"Accordingly he moved to Niagara Falls, where today his plant ships carborundum products to the whole civilized world, while tons and tons of graphite, which manufacturing process the doctor discovered later, go to lubricate autos and other machinery, as well as to enter into the manufacture of electrical appliances.
The manufacture of graphite is one of the great discoveries of the age, as the natural supply is limited, and consequently very expensive."

A woman out in the country the other day sent her little daughter out to the barn to look for eggs.
The little one was gone for some time but returned much disappointed.
"Oh, mamma," she exclaimed, "I hunted every where, but couldn't find a single egg."

"Never mind, dearie," said the mother, noting the little maiden's chagrin.
"I don't see why there couldn't be some eggs," complained the tot. "A lot of hens were standin' 'round doin' 'nothin'."

BEALLSVILLE

Mrs. J. N. Anderson of Charleroi, is spending a few days at this place, visiting at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Halbert E. Dawson.
Upon her return to Charleroi Mrs.
Anderson will be accompanied home by Keith Dawson who will spend a few months at the C. R. Trew home.

The new board of managers for the Beallsville Cemetery association is composed of L. V. Martindell, president; T. C. Luellen, vice president; Theodore Hawkins, secretary, and W.
H. Weaver, treasurer. W. F. Richardson of Bentleyville; W. C. O'Donnell of Centerville, and F. L. Hastings, of was held Tuesday evening, the evening after the election of the new board.

Complimentary to Glenn Baker, Mr. and Mrs. James Baker entertained a number of friends at their home in Beallsville, on Wednesday evening.
Mrs. Robert Jackson Coulson, who is visiting here, assisted in entertaining.
Games and music were the amusements of the evening, and a most enjoyable time was spent at the Baker home. Refreshments were served.

The commencement exercises held here Monday afternoon were a credit to both the graduating class and the school. The class which was graduated was composed of Misses Mary Guthrie, Minnie Ulery, Iona Phillips, and Messrs. Archie O. Blair, Emmett Keegan, Grant McCarty, Leroy Wilson, Samuel Buckingham. Music was furnished by Yohe's orchestra of Monongahela.
Monday afternoon the class day exercises were held and in the evening the address to the graduates was delivered by the Rev. George Gibson Kerr, of Canonsburg, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of that place. The address was a masterful effort on the subject "The Boy." Rev. Kerr was a former Charleroi pastor and his address delivered here Monday evening was highly appreciated by all.

The Wreck of the Titan

By Morgan Robertson

"I will not say it—I will not—I will fight you in der courts," Mr. Meyer stamped up and down the floor in his excitement, then stopped with a triumphant smile and shook his finger into the face of the attorney.

"And even if der conceitment will not vilitate der polly der fact that he had a drunken man on lookout when der Titan struck der iceberg will be enough. Go ahead and sue, I will not say. He was part owner."

"You have no witnesses to that admission," said the attorney. Mr. Meyer looked around the group, and the smile left his face.

"Captain Bryce was mistaken," said Mr. Austen. "This man was drunk at New York like others of the crew. But he was sober and competent when on lookout. I discussed theories of navigation with him during his trick on the bridge that night, and he spoke intelligently."

"But you yourself said not ten minutes ago that this man was in a state of delirium tremens up to der collision," said Mr. Meyer.

"What I said and what I will admit under oath are two different things," said the officer desperately. "I may have said anything under the excitement of the moment when we were accused of such an infamous crime. I say now that John Rowland, whatever may have been his condition on the preceding night, was a sober and competent lookout at the time of the wreck of the Titan."

"Thank you," said Rowland dryly to the first officer; then, looking into the appealing face of Mr. Meyer, he said:

"I do not think it will be necessary to brand me before the world as an inebriate in order to punish the company and these men. Barratry, as I understand it, is the unlawful act of a captain or crew at sea, causing damage or loss, and it only applies when the parties are purely employees. Did I understand; rightly that Captain Bryce was part owner of the Titan?"

"Yes," said Mr. Meyer, "he owns stock, and we insure against barratry. But this man as part owner could not fall back on it."

"And an unlawful act," went on Rowland, "perpetrated by a captain who is part owner which might cause shipwreck and during the perpetration of which shipwreck really occurs will be sufficient to void the policy."

"Certainly," said Mr. Meyer eagerly. "You were drunk on der lookout—you were raving drunk, as he said himself. You will swear to this, will you not, my friend? It is bad faith with der underwriters. It annuls der insurance. You admit this, Mr. Thompson, do you not?"

"That is law," said the attorney boldly.

"Was Mr. Austen a part owner also?" asked Rowland, ignoring Mr. Meyer's view of the case.

"One share, is it not, Mr. Austen?"

asked Mr. Meyer, while he rubbed his hands and smiled. Mr. Austen made no sign of denial, and Rowland continued:

"Then for drugging a sailor into a stupor and having him on lookout out of his turn while in that condition and at the moment when the Titan struck the iceberg Captain Bryce and Mr. Austen have as part owners committed an act which nullifies the insurance on that ship."

"You infernal lying scoundrel!" roared Captain Bryce. He strode toward Rowland with threatening face. Halfway he was stopped by the impact of a huge brown fist, which sent him reeling and staggering across the room toward Mr. Selfridge and the child, over whom he floundered to the floor, a disheveled heap, while the big Captain Barry examined teeth marks on his knuckles, and every one else sprang to his feet.

"I told you to look out," said Captain Barry. "I treat my friend respectfully." He glared steadily at the first officer, as though inviting him to duplicate the offense. But that gentleman backed away from him and assisted the dazed Captain Bryce to a chair, where he felt of his loosened teeth, spat blood upon Mr. Meyer's floor and gradually awakened to a realization of the fact that he had been knocked down—and by an American.

He Was Stopped by the Impact of a Huge Brown Fist.

CHAPTER VII.

A Tale of Hasheesh.

LITTLE MYRA, unhurt, but badly frightened, began to cry and call for Rowland in her own way, to the wonder and some what to the scandal of the gentle old man who was endeavoring to soothe her.

"Dummy," she cried, as she struggled to go to him. "I want Dummy—Dummy—Da-a-may."

"Oh, what a pidd little girl," said the jocular Mr. Meyer, looking down on her. "Where did you learn such language?"

"It is my nickname," said Rowland, smiling in spite of himself. "She has coined the word," he explained to the agitated Mr. Selfridge, who had not yet comprehended what had happened. "and I have not yet been able to persuade her to drop it—and I could not be harsh with her. Let me take her, sir." He seated himself, with the child, who nestled up to him contentedly and soon was tranquil.

"Now, my friend," said Mr. Meyer, "you must tell us about this drugging." Then, while Captain Bryce, under the memory of the blow he had received, nursed himself into an insane fury and Mr. Austen, with his hand resting lightly on the captain's shoulder ready to restrain him, listened to the story, and the attorney drew up a chair and took notes of the story, and Mr. Selfridge drew his chair close to Myra and paid no attention to the story at all, Rowland recited the events prior to, and succeeding the shipwreck. Beginning with the finding of the whisky in his pocket, he told of his being called to the starboard bridge lookout in place of the rightful incumbent, of the sudden and strange interest Mr. Austen displayed as to his knowledge of navigation, of the pain in his stomach, the frightful shapes he had seen on the deck beneath and the sensations of his dream, leaving out only the part which bore on the woman he loved; he told of the sleep walking child which awakened him, of the crash of ice and instant wreck and the fixed condition of his eyes, which prevented their focusing only at a certain distance, finishing his story—to explain his empty sieve—with a graphic account of the fight with the bear.

"And I have studied it all out," he said in conclusion. "I was drugged, I believe, with hasheesh, which makes a man see strange things, and brought up on the bridge lookout, where I could be watched and my ravings listened to and recorded for the sole purpose of discrediting my threatened testimony in regard to the collision of the night before. But I was only half drugged, as I spilled part of my tea at supper. In that tea, I am positive, was the hasheesh."

"You know all about it, don't you?" snarled Captain Bryce from his chair. "Twas not hasheesh; 'twas an infusion of Indian hemp. You don't know!"

Mr. Austen's hand closed over his mouth, and he subsided. "Self convicted," said Rowland with a quiet laugh. "Hasheesh is made from Indian hemp."

"You hear this, gentlemen!" exclaimed Mr. Meyer, springing to his feet and facing everybody in turn. He pounced on Captain Barry. "You hear this confession, captain—you hear him say Indian hemp? I have a witness now, Mr. Thompson. Go right on with your suit. You hear him, Captain Barry. You are disinterested. You are a witness. You hear?"

"Yes, I heard it—the murdering scoundrel!" said the captain.

Mr. Meyer danced up and down in his joy, while the attorney, pocketing his notes, remarked to the discomfited Captain Bryce, "You are the poorest fool I know," and left the office.

Then Mr. Meyer calmed himself and, facing the two steamship officers, said slowly and impressively, while he poked his forefinger almost into their faces:

"England is a fine country, my friends—a fine country to leave behind sometimes. Here is Canada and der United States and Australia and South Africa—all fine countries, too—fine countries to go to with new names. My friends, you will be bulletined and listed at Lloyd's in less than half an hour, and you will never again sail under der English flag as officers. And, my friends, let me say that in half an hour after you are bulletined all Scotland Yard will be looking for you, but my door is not locked."

Silently they arose, pale, shamefaced and crushed, and went out the door, through the outer office and into the str.

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI.

While great interest centers in the coming production of the stupendous historical production, "The Coming of Columbus" at the Palace Theatre next Tuesday, this week has not been devoid of interesting features. Among the photoplays of note were "The Leap Year Lottery," "The New Editor," "The Stolen Invention," "A Diplomat Interrupted," "Sheriff Jim's Last Shot," and "Blinks and Jinks." "Winter Logging in Maine," was an industrial film of interest, showing the activity of the logging camps during the long winter months when the heavy snow falls make the hauling of logs possible over the smooth icy roads of the woods. An exceptional group of scenes shows the evolution of logging—first oxen, then horses, next steam, then gasoline. The story of "Blinks and Jinks, Attorneys at Law," is a graphic exposition of how lawyers combine to get damage suits and then divide up the spoils. The "Coming of Christopher Columbus," next Tuesday is a remarkable visualization of the historical incidents of the life and discoveries of Christopher Columbus, and one which every school child should witness. Here will be seen exact replicas of the ships in which Columbus sailed, as well as the exact port from which he sailed and the landing in the Bahamas where he first set foot on the soil of the new world. The musical features of the Palace were also up to the standard during the week.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI.

Although the big feature of Wednesday night, "Twenty Years in Sing Sing," in a measure overshadowed the rest of the weekly repertoire at the Coyle Theatre, it was not by any means the only picture of interest. "Twenty Years in Sing Sing" is a graphic presentation of prison life in the great institution of New York. Life in the cells, the workshops, and the yards is shown, together with the manners and customs of the prisoners. A thrilling escape gives a most sensational feature to the educational part of the film, and creates breathless interest from start to finish. "The Claim Jumper" is a thrilling motion picture play of the gold seekers of the northwest, that was also a feature. Two young men, both in love with the daughter of the recorder of claims, seek their fortune neither of which will find favor in the father's eyes until he has staked a successful claim. One finds pay gravel and the other jumps the claim. Both make a race for the recorder's office by dog steds. The rightful owner meets with accident, but finally beats his competitor and wins the girl. A big feature for Saturday is "Cell 13," a thrilling and sensational of live, intrigue, duplicity and the usual tragic ending. "Zigomar" the great French Detective story will be featured Monday night. "The Cry of the Children" Friday is another of the strong films of the week.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

A splendid repertoire of photoplays was presented at the Star Theatre this week a strong feature of which was "Dove Eye's Gratitude," a drama of great emotional heart interest. A delightful presentation was that juvenile classic of "Jack Harkaway," showing the childhood of this remarkable creation of fiction which has given pleasure to millions of boy readers in the English speaking world. Other dramas were "Gratitude," "When the World Sleeps," "The Strength of the Weak," "Fidelity," "Tempted But True," and a most interesting travel picture, "Across the Sierras." Manager Cowan has a strong photoplay play on for Saturday, "The Renegade," together with a good repertoire of specialties for a week end presentation.

Do You Want Your Money's Worth?

Flanders "20" Touring Car, $800

The next time an automobile salesman tries to sell you a car at a discount, tell him that the old "something for nothing" story can't fool you.

The best automobiles in the world are sold for their list price, not a penny less. They are worth it. But the lame ducks, the second rates, the nondescript and assembled automobiles are in the public market looking for the highest bidder. Look out they don't get you. If gold-brick cars are not worth their list price, how much are they worth? Nobody knows. Cut price deals are frauds.

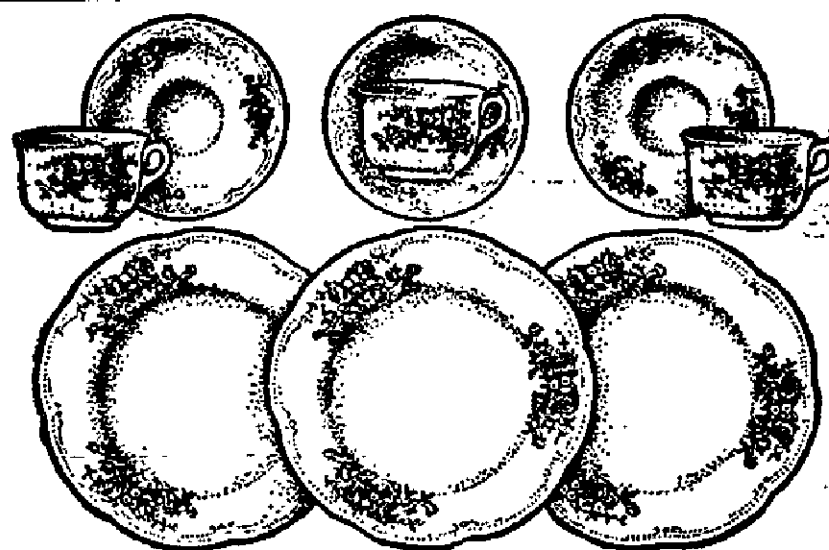

But if you want a car of one price to all and worth every cent of it, get either a Studebaker E-M-F "30," $1100, or Flanders "20," $800. You can trust them. You get all that you pay for, and that is more than you get with any other car at near their price. Studebaker guarantees them—that's the big reason. No matter what price temptation falls in your way, Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are far bigger bargains, because in years of good service and satisfaction they pay big returns.

COLUMBUS PICTURES

APPROVED BY POPE

"Columbus," which will be presented at the Palace Theatre Tuesday night of particular interest in church circles, marking as it does, the beginning of the introduction of Christianity in the New World. When the films, which were completed in Europe, were first shown, they created much interest in church circles, where in many instances the name of Christopher Columbus is greatly revered. While in Rome a representative of the firm, presented three reels of the the great Selig film, "The Coming of In view of its historical association films to the Pope. The pictures had been exhibited to members of Vatican officials, and the Holy Father, who granted the representative an audience, was so well pleased with the accounts of the great pictures, that he gave him a medal and a memorial for Mr. Selig. He also congratulated the latter, and stated that he hoped he would continue to make more pictures of such historic and moral value.

Since then the pictures have been exhibited to other church dignitaries, all of whom pronounce the films of great merit and are equally well pleased with the production.

FACTORY GIRL GIVES UP

Too Sick to Work—Doctor Advised Operation. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—"I run a sewing machine in a large factory and got all run down. I had to give up work for I could not stand the pains in my back. The doctor said I needed an operation for female trouble but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me more than the doctors did. I hope that every one who is suffering will get the Compound. My pains, nervousness and backache are gone and I have gained five pounds. I owe my thanks to your medicine for it is the working girls friend, and all women who suffer should write to you for special advice."—Miss TILLIE PLENZIG, 8 Jay St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

When a remedy has lived for over thirty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their very lives to it, it is not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

We challenge anyone to show any other one remedy for a special class of disease which has attained such an enormous demand and maintained it for so many years as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ENGINEERS AT WORK

Prominent Washington County Men Interested—Will Enter Coal Trade

Several corps of engineers under the supervision of John I. Mullen, a Pittsburgh mining and civil engineer, are engaged in making the necessary surveys for the construction of the new Lilly coal plant near West townsville. A company of Washington county men recently purchased the Thomas Lilly tract of 1,000 acres. Lilly being one of the heaviest stockholders in the organization, other prominent men in the company are John H. Moffitt, controller of Washington county who is treasurer; and I. V. Kinder, of Charleroi, who has been elected secretary.

There are over 250 acres of virgin timber on the Lilly tract, and this will be utilized in the construction and operation of the new mine. It is the intention to build coke ovens in the future, they being located in the hallow. At present, however, it is planned to place only coal on the market.

The slope into the mine as well as much of the other construction, including the substructure, will be done by the Drake-Stratton construction company of Pittsburgh. Over $200,000 will be spent in equipment, of which will be of the most modern type. A steel tippie, concrete lined slope, and other features which are essential of a first class plant will be in evidence.

The Lilly tract adjoins that of the Nes & Laughlin holdings, and that corporation has sought to purchase the tract for years. The Lilly Coal and Coke company was organized recently and the officials state that work at the new plant will be pushed to completion.

PLAYGROUNDS TO BE OPENED ON MAY 30

Will be Made Decoration Day Event—Association to Hire Two Teachers, One for Boys and One For Girls

Enthusiastic with the success attained in what was really an experimental playgrounds, the Playgrounds Association is preparing for another playground year. At a meeting held Friday evening the date for the formal opening of the playgrounds for the year was set for Decoration Day, May 30. At that time it will be carried out, consisting of Decoration day addresses and various other events.

It is the desire and intention of the Playgrounds Association this year to conduct the playgrounds upon a broader scale than last year. The plan is to elect a man and a woman teacher, the former for the boys and the latter for the girls' work. In addition a ground keeper will be employed, whose sole duty it will be to keep the grounds and apparatus in shape.

New apparatus is to be provided. It is stated, shortly after the opening. One feature this year will be gymnasium work. Both girls and boys will be taught gymnasium exercises, competitive games and manual training may be taught.

Charleroi lodge organizations have been assisting in the work of the playgrounds and have contributed considerable for maintenance. The Playgrounds Association is composed of committees from the borough council, the school board and the Business Men's association.

Tour Through State

On a trip through Western Pennsylvania Grand Chancellor George H. Hoffman, of the Knights of Pythias, order and a small party of grand officers, made a stop in Monessen Friday evening, where grand lodge rank of the past chancellor was conferred on a class of 15 candidates. Visiting knights were present from various lodges along the valley between Brownsville and Monongahela. J. Winfield Reed Choice for Chairman in
This County

HOLD MEETING TODAY

So-Called Progressive Faction Pulls Out Ahead—J. N.
Patterson is Treasurer

By the election of J. Winfield Reed, as county Chairman, the Guthrie faction of the Democratic party, was triumphant at the re-organization of the Democratic county committee at Washington today. A hot fight was waged by the old time organization, the adherents of Col. J. M. Guffey's leadership, but the insurgent element were easy victors at the final showdown. The vote for chairman was 29 to 58 out of 110 committeemen present. J. N. Patterson of Washington, was elected treasurer.

A. P. Cochran of McDonald, placed Reed in nomination, and Joe T. S. Cowan of Roscoe, made the nominating speech for Josiah M. Patterson, the candidate of the Guffey element. Some florid oratory marked the nominations, but the insurgents appeared to have control of the situation on every hand.

New party rules for the county were adopted. One of the important features was a rule requiring every candidate to sign a pledge not to expend money for anything but legitimate expenses. Expenditures for watchers, transportation and "the dissemination of information" is strictly prohibited. Another rule provides for the direct election of county chairman at the primary election.

ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF THEIR DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. John Glasser gave a birthday party Friday evening in honor of their daughter Mary. Entertainment was provided with various diversions for the young folks. Refreshments were served. Place cards were decorated with a spray of the Lily of the Valley. Little Miss Mary received numerous beautiful and useful presents. Those present were: Anna Kirk, Katherine Mogan, Amelia Joiner, Merle Ryland, Margaret Yarnall, Eleanor Bake, Irene Koller, Elizabeth Rothleder, Mary Koller, John Illig, Floyd Carson, James Bowers, Harold Pilston, Joe Wentzell, Arthur Wentzel, Edward Reeves.

AN AGRICULTURAL EXPERT.

Through the efforts of Secretary
G. W. Dunderer of the county seat Board of Trade the government has signified its willingness to place an agricultural expert in Washington county, provided the people here will pay half the expenses. It is not yet known what these expenses will be,
but it seems probable that from the
efforts made at the county seat to improve and stimulate farming conditions in the vicinity of that town
that an effort will be made at least
to secure the permanent location of
the expert in the county.

This is a matter in which Charle-
roi might co-operate, and have this section share in the benefits of the advice and instructions of the expert, who could devote a portion of his time in this section. The advantages of such an arrangement
are obvious, in view of the effort to establish a curb market in Charleroi
and to stimulate farming and gardening. There are possibly many undeveloped resources in an agricultural
line that could be pointed out by an expert trained in climatic and soil conditions. Many sections that are now producing alfalfa in bountiful
crops at one time were under the impression that the product could not be grown there, but experts pointed
out the necessary requirements, and
a new resource was developed.

It is so here. There are many scarce products that could be raised profitably that are not now grown, and some one to point out the way and blaze the trail would be of inestimable benefit to the community.

In view of the widespread prevalence of baseball pools, which is a series of gambling, the national associations, a united effort is being made
all over the State to suppress the

practice which, it is declared, will
soon put the social ban on the game
just as has been put on horse racing because of the gambling and pernicious following the sport developed.
Pool selling on horse races finally resulted in drastic laws in many of the States, and horse racing has declined greatly besides being brought into general disrepute.

It will be so with baseball. If the gamblers are permitted to fasten
their business on the game as they are trying to do, it will soon be brought into disrepute with the public. The chief reason for the unbounded popularity of the game is that it is clean and the contests are
decided entirely on their merits.
Once let the pool business reach the
proportions that horse racing pools
once did, and we will see players
entering into the pools and soon there will be charges of "throwing games"
for the sake of winning pool money.

If baseball continues to be popular it must be kept clean. The practice of selling pools is unlawful in this State at least, and all who are interested in preserving the great game at its present high standard will unite in an effort to wipe out the pernicious practice that
will destroy one of the cleanest and
most popular of American sports

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Complaining of opportunities missed
is about the only real enjoyment
some men get out of life. Heaven knows we shouldn't deny them of that sole pleasure.

Several of the Presidential candidates this year seem strong for occupying pulpits.

The New York Club that invited
reporters to one of the big banquets
there and assured them that they would receive the same treatment,
food and so forth, as the honor guests
is sure of a good writeup.

Those of us who are still wearing
our winter clothes don't as yet feel
very uncomfortable in spite of the fact that Easter came and went about a month ago.

Straw hat day isn't very far off,
but with the weather no warmer than
it is now, our old derbies will still
be found quite convenient.

Our idea of real fun is watching
two circuses trying to placard the same town for shows only a few days
apart.

A man always thinks it is funny
that a bald headed man should want
a wig until he himself acquires a billiard ball, fly inviting, shiny top
piece.

The advantage of having a bald
head is that when your think tank
doesn't work properly, your pate
scratching will get nearer to the seat
of preponderance.

Our idea of foolishness is not accepting an invitation to dinner.

Another piece of foolishness is inviting anybody to be your guest at
a meal.

One cannot help wondering if this
new-fangled domestic science course
for young women in High School
to include instructions in suffrage
tactics.

"Reading a tribute which Elbert
Hubbard pays to Dr. Edward G.
Acheson in the current number of the Fra, I am reminded how Monongahela escaped becoming the center of an extensive manufacturing plant
by a short sighted policy on the part
of her council some twenty years ago,
or more, so I've been told," remarked
a valley resident last evening "Dr.
Acheson, who is the inventor or discoverer of the process for making carborundum, one of the most efficient abrasives ever known, as well as the process for manufacturing
graphite, which is the best lubricant
known, started his carborundum plant at Monongahela. Being a native of Washington county he selected Monongahela as an advantageous point to build up a plant for the various
discoveries he was developing. Dr.
Acheson was a student of Thomas
Edison, and is one of the foremost scientists of the day. At one time he thought he had discovered a process for manufacturing diamonds,
but carborundum was the result,
which for useful purposes is far more important than the manufacture of gems.

"While in Monongahela Dr. Acheson sought permission of council to utilize some ground along the river bank for the enlargement of his plant.
This was refused, and the scientist was out to a great inconvenience."
"All right," he said, "I'll move to some place where there is more room."
Accordingly he moved to Niagara Falls, where today his plant ships
carborundum products to the whole
civilized world, while tons and tons
of graphite, which manufacturing
process the doctor discovered later,
go to lubricate autos and other machinery, as well as to enter into the manufacture of electrical appliances.
The manufacture of graphite is one
of the great discoveries of the age,
as the natural supply is limited, and
consequently very expensive.

A woman out in the country the
other day sent her little daughter
out to the barn to look for eggs.
The little one was gone for some time
but returned much disappointed.

"Oh, mamma," she exclaimed, "I hunted every year, but couldn't find a single egg."

"Never mind, dearie," said the mother, noting the little maiden's chagrin.

"I don't see why there couldn't be some eggs," complained the little lot of hens were standin' round
doin' nothin'."

is spending a few days at this place,
visiting at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Halbert E. Dawson.
Upon her return to Charleroi Mrs.
Anderson will be accompanied home
by Keith Dawson who will spend a

was held Tuesday evening, the evening after the election of the new board.

Complimentary to Glenn Baker, Mr. and Mrs. James Baker entertained a number of friends at their home in Beallsville, on Wednesday evening.
Mrs. Robert Jackson Coulson, who is visiting here, assisted in entertaining.
Games and music were the amusements of the evening, and a most enjoyable time was spent at the Baker
home. Refreshments were served.

The commencement exercises held
here Monday afternoon were a credit
to both the graduating class and the school. The class which was graduated was composed of Misses Mary Guthrie, Minnie Uery, Iona Phillips, and Messrs. Archie O. Blair, Emmert Keegan, Grant McCarty, Leroy Wilson, Samuel Buckingham. Music was furnished by Yohe's orchestra of Monongahela. Monday afternoon the class day exercises were held and in the evening the address to the graduates was delivered by the Rev. George Gibson Kerr, of Cannonsburg, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of that place. The address was a magnificent effort on the subject "The Boy." Rev. Kerr was a former Charleroi pastor and his address delivered here Monday evening was highly appreciated by all.

The Wreck of the Titan

By Morgan Robertson

"I will not say it—I will not. I will fight you in der courts," Mr. Meyer stamped up and down the floor in his excitement, then, stopped with a triumphant smile and shook his finger into the face of the attorney.

"And even if der concealment will not vitiate der policy der fact that he had a drunken man on lookout when der Titan struck der iceberg will be enough. Go ahead and sue. I will not say. He was part owner."

"You have no witnesses to that admission," said the attorney. Mr. Meyer looked around the group, and the smile left his face.

"Captain Bryce was mistaken," said Mr. Austen. "This man was drunk at New York like others of the crew. But he was sober and competent when on lookout. I discussed theories of navigation with him during his trick on the bridge that night, and he spoke intelligently."

"But you yourself said not ten minutes ago that this man was in a state of delirium tremens up to der collision," said Mr. Meyer.

"What I said and what I will admit under oath are two different things," said the officer desperately. "I may have said anything under the excitement of the moment when we were accused of such an infamous crime. I say now that John Rowland, whatever may have been his condition on the preceding night, was a sober and competent lookout at the time of the wreck of the Titan."

"Thank you," said Rowland dryly to the first officer; then, looking into the appealing face of Mr. Meyer, he said:

"I do not think it will be necessary to brand me before the world as an inebriate in order to punish the company and these men. Barratry, as I understand it, is the unlawful act of a captain or crew, at sea, causing damage or loss, and it only applies when the parties are purely employees. Did I understand, rightly that Captain Bryce was part owner of the Titan?"

"Yes," said Mr. Meyer, "he owns stock, and we insure against barratry. But this man as part owner could not fall back on it."

"And an unlawful act," went on Rowland, "perpetrated by a captain who is part owner which might cause shipwreck and during the perpetration of which shipwreck really occurs will be sufficient to void the policy."

"Certainly," said Mr. Meyer eagerly. "You were drunk on der lookout—you were raving drunk, as he said himself. You will swear to this, will you not, my friend? It is bad faith with der underwriters. It annuls der insurance. You admit this, Mr. Thompson, do you not?"

"That is law," said the attorney boldly.

"Was Mr. Austen a part owner also?" asked Rowland, ignoring Mr. Meyer's view of the case.

"One share, is it not, Mr. Austen?" asked Mr. Meyer, while he rubbed his hands and smiled. Mr. Austen made no sign of denial, and Rowland continued:

"Then for drugging a sailor into a stupor and having him on lookout out of his turn while in that condition and at the moment when the Titan struck the iceberg Captain Bryce and Mr. Austen have as part owners committed an act which nullifies the insurance on that ship."

"You infernal lying scoundrel!" roared Captain Bryce. He strode toward Rowland with threatening face. Halfway he was stopped by the impact of a huge brown fist, which sent him reeling and staggering across the room toward Mr. Selfridge and the child, over whom he floundered to the floor a disheveled heap, while the big Captain Barry examined teeth marks on his knuckles, and every one else sprang to his feet.

"I told you to look out," said Cap tain Barry. "Treat my friend respectfully," He glared steadily at the first officer, as though inviting him to duplicate the offense. But that gentleman backed away from him and assisted the dazed Captain Bryce to a chair, where he felt of his loosened teeth, spat blood upon Mr. Meyer's floor and gradually awakened to a realization of the fact that he had been knocked down—and by an American.

CHAPTER VII.

A Tale of Hasheesh.

LITTLE Myra, unhurt, but badly frightened, began to cry and call for Rowland in her own way, to the wonder and some what to the scandal of the gentle old man who was endeavoring to soothe her.

"Daddy!" she cried, as she struggled to go to him. "I want Daddy—Daddy—Da-a-may!"

"Oh, what a poor little girl," said the jocular Mr. Meyer, looking down on her. "Where did you learn such language?"

"It is my nickname," said Rowland, smiling in spite of himself. "She has coined the word," he explained to the agitated Mr. Selfridge, who had not yet comprehended what had happened, "and I have not yet been able to persuade her to drop it—and I could not be harsh with her. Let me take her, sir." He seated himself, with the child, who nestled up to him contentedly and soon was tranquil.

"Now, my friend," said Mr. Meyer, "you must tell us about this drugging." Then, while Captain Bryce, under the memory of the blow he had received, nursed himself into an insane fury and Mr. Austen, with his hand resting lightly on the captain's shoulder ready to restrain him, listened to the story, and the attorney drew up a chair and took notes of the story, and Mr. Selfridge drew his chair close to Myra and paid no attention to the story at all, Rowland recited the events prior to, and succeeding the shipwreck. Beginning with the finding of the whisky in his pocket, he told of his being called to the star board bridge lookout in place of the rightful incumbent, of the sudden and strange interest Mr. Austen displayed as to his knowledge of navigation, of the pain in his stomach, the frightful shapes he had seen on the deck beneath and the sensations of his dream, leaving out only the part which bore on the woman he loved; he told of the sleep walking child which awakened him, of the crash of ice and instant wreck and the fixed condition of his eyes, which prevented their focusing only at a certain distance, finishing his story—to explain his empty sleeve—with a graphic account of the fight with the bear.

"And I have studied it all out," he said in conclusion. "I was drugged, I believe, with hasheesh, which makes a man see strange things, and brought up on the bridge lookout, where I could be watched and my ravings listened to and recorded for the sole purpose of discrediting my threatened testimony in regard to the collision of the night before. But I was only half drugged, as I spilled part of my tea at supper. In that tea, I am positive, was the hasheesh."

"You know all about it, don't you?" snarled Captain Bryce from his chair. "Twas not hasheesh; 'twas an infusion of Indian hemp. You don't know!"

Mr. Austen's hand closed over his mouth, and he subsided.

"Self convicted," said Rowland with a quiet laugh. "Hasheesh is made from Indian hemp."

"You hear this, gentlemen!" exclaimed Mr. Meyer, springing to his feet and facing everybody in turn. He pounced on Captain Barry. "You hear this confession, captain—you hear him say Indian hemp? I have a witness now, Mr. Thompson. Go right on with your suit. You hear him, Captain Barry. You are disinterested. You are a witness. You hear?"

"Yes, I heard it—the murdering scoundrel!" said the captain.

Mr. Meyer danced up and down in his joy, while the attorney, pocketing his notes, remarked to the discomfited Captain Bryce: "You are the poorest fool I know," and left the office.

Then Mr. Meyer calmed himself and, facing the two steamship officers, said slowly and impressively, while he poked his forefinger almost into their faces:

"England is a fine country, my friends—a fine country to leave behind sometimes. Here is Canada and der United States and Australia and South Africa—all fine countries, too—fine countries to go to with new games. My friends, you will be bulletined and listed at Lloyd's in less than half an hour, and you will never again sail under der English flag as officers. And, my friends, let me say that in half an hour after you are bulletined all Scotland Yard will be looking for you, but my door is not locked."

Silently they arose, pale, shamefaced and crushed, and went out the door, through the outer office and into the str.

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI.

While great interest centers in the coming production of the stupendous historical production, "The Coming of Columbus" at the Palace Theatre next Tuesday, this week has not been devoid of interesting features. Among the photoplays of note were "The Leap Year Lottery," "The New Editor," "The Stolen Invention," "A Diplomat Interrupted," "Sheriff Jim's Last Shot," and "Blinks and Jinks." "Winter Logging in Maine," was an industrial film of interest, showing the activity of the logging camps during the long winter months when the heavy snow falls make the hauling of logs possible over the smooth icy roads of the woods. An exceptional group of scenes shows the evolution of logging—first oxen, then horses, next steam, then gasoline. The story of "Blinks of Jinks, Attorneys at Law," is a graphic exposition of how lawyers combine to get damage suits and then divide up the spoils. The "Coming of Christopher Columbus," next Tuesday is a remarkable visualization of the historical incidents of the life and discoveries of Christopher Columbus, and one which every school child should witness. Here will be seen exact replicas of the ships in which Columbus sailed, as well as the exact port from which he sailed and the landing in the Bahamas where he first set foot on the soil of the new world. The musical features of the Palace were also up to the standard during the week.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI.

Although the big feature of Wednesday night, "Twenty Years in Sing Sing," in a measure overshadowed the rest of the weekly repertoire at the Coyle Theatre, it was not by any means the only picture of interest. "Twenty Years in Sing Sing" is a graphic presentation of prison life in the great institution of New York. Life in the cells, the workshops, and the yards is shown, together with the manners and customs of the prisoners. A thrilling escape gives a most sensational feature to the educational part of the films, and creates breathless interest from start to finish. "The Claim Jumper" is a thrilling motion picture play of the

Do You Want Your Money's Worth?

The next time an automobile salesman tries to sell you a car at a discount, tell him that the old "something for nothing" story can't fool you.

The best automobiles in the world are sold for their list price, not a penny less. They are worth it. But the lame ducks, the second rates, the nondescript and assembled automobiles are in the public market looking for the highest bidder. Look out they don't get you. If gold-brick cars are not worth their list price, how much are they worth? Nobody knows. Cut price deals are frauds.

But if you want a car of one price to all and worth every cent of it, get either a Studebaker E-M-F "30," $1100, or Flanders "20," $800. You can trust them. You get all that you pay for, and that is more than you get with any other car at near their price. Studebaker guarantees them—that's the big reason. No matter what price temptation falls in your way, Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are far bigger bargains, because in years of good service and satisfaction they pay big returns.

gold seekers of the northwest, that was also a feature. Two young men, both in love with the daughter of the recorder of claims, seek their fortune neither of which will find favor in the father's eyes until he has staked a successful claim. One finds pay gravel and the other jumps the claim. Both make a race for the recorder's office by dog sleds. The rightful owner meets with accident, but finally beats his competitor and wins the girl. A big feature for Saturday is "Cell 13," a thrilling and sensational of live, intrigue, duplicity and the usual tragic ending. "Zigomar," the great French Detective story will be featured Monday night. "The Cry of the Children" Friday is another of the strong films of the week.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

A splendid repertoire of photoplays was presented at the Star Theatre this week a strong feature of which was "Dove Eye's Gratitude," a drama of great emotional heart interest. A delightful presentation was that juvenile classic of "Jack Harkaway," showing the childhood of this remarkable creation of fiction which has given pleasure to millions of boy readers in the English speaking world. Other dramas were "Gratitude," "When the World Sleeps," "The Strength of the Weak," "Fidelity," "Tempted But True," and a most interesting travel picture, "Across the Sierras." Manager Cowan has a strong photoplay play on for Saturday, "The Renegade," together with a good repertoire of specialties for a week end presentation.

When a remedy has lived for over thirty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their very lives to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

We challenge anyone to show any other one remedy for a special class of disease which has attained such an enormous demand and maintained it for so many years as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
